Testimony of Rep. Allison Hepler presenting
LD 1043, An Act to Provide Free Admission to State Parks and Historic Sites for the Immediate Family Members of Veterans and Active Military Personnel

Before the Joint Standing Committee on Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry

Good afternoon, Senator Talbot Ross, Representative Pluecker and colleagues of the Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry Committee. As you know, I am Allison Hepler, and I represent the towns of Arrowsic, Georgetown, Phippsburg, West Bath and Woolwich. I am pleased to present LD 1043, An Act to Provide Free Admission to State Parks and Historic Sites for the Immediate Family Members of Veterans and Active Military Personnel.

I'm honored to represent the two most beautiful state parks in Maine, Reid State Park in Georgetown and Popham Beach State Park in Phippsburg. It's also an honor to represent many veterans and their families.

Current law provides free admission to Maine resident veterans holding a lifetime park pass to state parks and historic sites. This bill would extend free admission to immediate family members.

Veterans make up nearly 10% of Maine's population, the fifth highest percentage in the nation. Out of the 105,385 veterans, nearly half are considered from the Vietnam Era, while 15,450 have served since September 11, 2001.

For a bit of history, and a shout out to our Law and Legislative Library: Since 2004, Maine veterans have been granted free admission to state parks, and for many years their families were also. In 2009, the bill that allowed this to happen reached its sunset clause and has yet to be successfully reintroduced. When I introduced a version of this bill in the 131st, this committee expanded it and passed it unanimously, where it died on the Special Appropriations Table.

As many of us know, when a person serves in the military, so does the family. I first learned of this in the 1990s when I read Sarah Smiley's regular column in Maine newspapers about life as a military wife with young children. I was reminded of this reality again when I spoke with a family a couple of years ago. That conversation prompted this bill.

In conclusion, Reid and Popham are heavily used by local residents and I imagine that this is no different from others across the state. Veterans and their families are an important part of our communities and I believe that this small token of the state's acknowledgement of their service is both reasonable and timely.

Thank you for your time and I hope to be able to answer any questions you have.
