

Ryan Hines
Hammond

Please ban aerial spraying of herbicide on forest land in Maine. This is a compromise that reduces contamination of neighboring property, but still allows forests to be sprayed with a more targeted method.

This doesn't eliminate spraying, but it does help protect other property owners' rights to have a choice not to spray. I'm just asking to remove aerial spraying method which poses huge risks to other landowners, crops, animals and people.