

Gail Williams
Liberty

Chlorpyrifos can be found on some of kids' favorite foods including peaches. The EPA's own scientists have stated the levels of chlorpyrifos found on produce and in drinking water are unsafe. But the EPA has refused to take action. Now it's time for the State to protect the health and lives of Maine children and adults.

Please support the prohibition of use of Chlorpyrifos anywhere in Maine.

Thank you.