

Renee Cote
Auburn

In spite of a well-funded public relation campaign by CMP, the majority of Maine citizens do not support the destruction that CMP's corridor would cause, in order to transport power to Massachusetts. The legislature is the representative of the people, and it should have the power to put forth the interests of Maine citizens in matters of the public lands.