

Megan Marquis
China

Food insecurity is still a large concern in Maine. We could do more than partner with farms, we could partner with restaurants, canners like B&M, to solve this too. Transportation/food delivery is also another need to distribute this food to aging residents too.