LD 2013

As a farmer I want to show my support for LD2013. Luckily our own land was never licensed for bio-solid application but we understand how PFAS can ruin a farm and a family business. Farmers who have land contaminated by PFAS are not at fault and were following the recommendations of the state at the time. Society relies on viable farms and society now needs to support farmers who have been effected by PFAS. We need viable farms now and for the future.

Sincerely,
