

Andrew Donaldson
Round Pond
LD 2013

It is imperative that the State of Maine support farmers whose land and bodies, through no fault of their own, are contaminated with PFAS. The sludge spreading program was both supported and promoted by the the state; it is up to the state to make things right.