LD 2013

I am a Maine citizen who gratefully and proudly relies on local farms to feed my family. A number of those farms have been deeply affected by PFAS testing and discovery in recent weeks and months. This bill would deliver critical farmer support for income replacement, research, lifetime health monitoring, and new infrastructure to support their continued contributions to our community. These Maine families have allowed us to put nourishing food on the table and supported our health and well-being for so many years, and they deserve the same in return: a state that cares for them and their well being and allows them to productively contribute for many years and generations ahead. I urge all legislators to support the passage of LD 2013.
