To whom it may concern. We are a Portland local meal service company in our 7th year of business. It is imperative that businesses like ours make changes and move away from single-use plastic containers not only for the planet for the people we serve. While we plan to switch to compostable containers this year, this is not a long-term solution. Single use waste and compostable materials, while better, still take 80-100 years to biodegrade. We are in support of this bill to allow Maine's food businesses the opportunity to lead with better integrity.
