My daughter Maya's transformation since 2017, thanks to cannabinoid products, has been nothing short of miraculous. Previously plagued by aggression, anxiety, and mood swings, her life took a positive turn when we reached out to Integr8 Health for help. Despite trying numerous prescriptions, relief remained elusive until we embarked on this healing journey. The accessibility of these products is paramount to Maya's well-being, and limiting their production would be devastating. I implore you to reconsider this bill, as it threatens the health and happiness of countless individuals like Maya who rely on these products for their vitality. Thank you for your consideration.
