

Janet Drew
York

We will better protect kids families and communities if we support programs to help people at risk. We we seem to have ever increasing opacity in government but more and more surveillance warrants and arrests of individuals particularly people who are poor and sick. We can keep kids with their imperfect parents (we're all imperfect parents) if we build in support & compassion & reject increasing policing