

Janet Drew
York

I support increasing transparency and accountability in policing, including employment records. A recent report by the UN of US policing of people of color, labeled it genocide. By increasing transparency and social support teams in policing, we can restore trust, and also vulnerable people and communities