Having fireworks being sold next door to my restaurant and hotel has had a huge negative impact on my businesses financially. My restaurant that uses propane for cooking, used within my hotel and has been around longer than the fireworks store that was opened within 100 feet from my businesses and propane tanks. The amounts of insurance that I had to purchase for the increased costs have been a nightmare. Even with my protest of its proposal within the town, it passed, even breaking the town's own ordinances of: negatively impacting abutting properties, improper buffering and various other violations, the town continues to turn a blind eye. The firework next door (Big Al's Fireworks) has broken local ordinances and state laws in reference to improper storage of fireworks outside his physical building, both town and state have not taken any action upon my complaints. He (Al Cohren) has already demonstrated within a court of law, recklessness by improperly storing fireworks within a residential area, and to this day stores his fireworks outside his building inside moving vans and or a cargo container, disregarding state laws and safety for other people, their homes, and businesses.
