

emily wright
Bar Harbor

I believe that all people involved in law enforcement should be required to have ongoing training in issues of racial and social justice. I believe this is required in order to improve the health and safety of our communities for all members. As a Registered nurse working in a field that needs similar reform in order to deliver the most just and holistic practice to the people it serves, I know that we can not say we serve a community when we do not tend to the needs of those most vulnerable and historically marginalized within that community. I believe through on going racial and social justice training law enforcement will be better equipped to serve and protect.