Maine has always been one of the top 3 safest states in the country. These bills, if passed, will only serve to punish law abiding citizens and gun owners. Criminals are criminals because they don't obey laws. Even if you pass 100 anti gun laws the criminals still will not obey them.

Yes, our crime rates have gone up in the state over the past few years. What has happened in the past few years to cause this?

The open doors to illegal immigrants provided for by open borders politicians. Just in South Portland crime is up 2000%. In a small city of only 23,000 people the police had to establish a satellite police station in the area where the illegals are being housed.
