Thank you for the opportunity to express my support for LD552. As a parent of a lifetime special needs child, it was imperative that all who worked with my son had a voice in creating and maintaining his IEP. To exclude a single representative working with my child from approving a change to his IEP was unheard of. Every individual working with my child was a piece of the entire picture on who, what, when or where would increase or continue down the path of, successful learning for my child. Every individual has a voice in creating and or changing an IEP. Especially the parent and the Ed Tech. Most importantly the parent and the Ed Tech. The folks that spend the most time with a child. They must be apart of the change process and must include their approval each and every time a change is needed.
Thank you
