I do not so much have a testimony, but rather a question as I think specifically of teachers I have worked with and continue to work with that do not have a bachelor's degree in education but received their license through Pathway 2 (coursework, transcript analysis) and graduate-level coursework.

- §13032-A. Qualifying examination waiver, 3 (Professional teacher certificate; teaching experience under conditional certificate): Does this section capture those teachers who might seek licensure under Pathway 2? For example, someone who might have a BA in psychology, but wishes to take coursework and/or get a graduate degree in an education field to work towards a teaching license and become a teacher; this person might teach under a conditional license while finishing the remaining requirements needed for a professional license.
