

Jermaine Moore
Eliot

I support this long overdue legislation. Understanding the history and cultural context of African Americans will allow the state to better serve all of its citizens. For far too long, adequate African American history as required education has been lacking. Understanding the past will allow us to build a better future for our children.