

James Millard
Cornish
LD 2001

The teaching of African American history is the teaching of American history. Our republic was founded by people acutely aware of racial difference and designed to subjugate black, brown and red skinned people. Ignoring that history only creates the miseducation of today's youth.

Please pass the needed legislation, so our children can learn their country's history from all perspectives now that we have dismantled the framework of race-based servitude.