I am an administrator for a toddler-8th grade school that is close knit and collaborative community. While we have dedicated early childhood, early elementary, and middle school faculty - we often share support staff and occasionally lead teachers.

This means many of our faculty has had to do duplicate fingerprinting. Costly and time consuming for dozens of people in our program.

This integrating of these background checks is one meaningful way to consolidate this process - saving time and effort for the faculty AND state agencies.
