

Frederick Farquhar
Falmouth
LD 1979

We have made some real progress in returning our rivers to what they used to be before we attempted to bend nature to our will. Man should not be trying to control nature, but instead, be trying to establish a balance with nature to achieve harmony. Our planet is in real trouble and we should certainly not do anything to aggravate the situation. Lawmakers need to do the responsible thing.