

LD227

To the honorable members of this committee..

LD227 is an attempt by the state of Maine to circumvent other state laws concerning abortion/ gender involved surgery on minor children . This legislation goes so far as allowing the kidnapping of minor children and transporting them across state lines for the purpose of performing surgical procedures on them that would be illegal in those other states.

This legislation will force The Maine court and law enforcement entities from enforcing laws and procedures from those states to protect these minor children from predatory adults. In short this legislation could be called The "Maine sex trafficking Act".

It allows an adult, other than a parent to take a minor child across state lines for what would be a criminal act in their state. It tries to stop parents of this child from issuing legal orders to cease and desist , allowing the state of Maine to sue these parents.

This legislation possibly violates federal law of bringing minor children across state lines without the consent or knowledge of parents. It circumvents due process also, which is a violation of the Constitution of the United States .

This legislation makes Maine a rogue state and a safe haven for child predators .

This legislation belongs in the Judiciary committee to fully investigate it's legality pertaining to circumventing other state's laws. I encourage members of this committee to not only consider the full legal ramifications of LD227, but also the severe physical and mental ramifications of these actions on these minors over the years.
