

Ellen Kasprzyk
Standish
LD 227

LD 227 is an egregious overreach of the Maine State Legislature into the private lives of its citizens. Under the guise of “health care”, politicians suppose they know better than parents, most of whom love their child more than any governmental body or bureaucrat can even fathom. To prevent parents from guiding, teaching and loving their children in the way they see fit, is unconscionable.

On top of that, this bill will apparently protect medical “professionals” from any possible legal consequences of their profit-motivated actions no matter how much damage is done to vulnerable and confused youth.

If this perverse piece of legislation is allowed to pass, Maine will be opened wide for even more horrors of child sex trafficking & child mutilation and will provide an open invitation to the worst of the medical community who can operate with immunity while they harm and permanently alter the bodies and psyches of young people from around the country.