

Darcey Boucher
Sabattus maine

Adding a photo doesn't change the process of how the card is used. Anyone in the household or even another designated person can still use the card so having the case head's picture does nothing. It's taking more time away from clerical staff and eligibility workers to have the people come in for a picture from a machine that's rarely working. What's more important is follow up on those who abuse the system.