

Megan Marquis
China Village

Parents don't always make the best decisions for their children- it doesn't mean children have to suffer too. By the time I was 12 I could walk to the local store and get whatever I needed. They should be able to still have access to what they need regardless of their parent's inability to care.