

Julie Cervone
Harrison

I am writing in support of LD867. We must maintain our God given right to medical freedom and the right to choose. It is not the right of the state to mandate medical interventions against the will of the people. Experimental injections for a disease with less than a one percent death rate, which have no long term data and have had significant negative outcomes in much of the population already is not only illogical it is criminal. As an American citizen I do not consent to a state mandate that would control my ability to make the right healthcare decisions for myself and my family.

In God We Trust,
Julie Cervone