

Erica Thoms
Northport

It is inhumane and barbaric to continue testing on animals. No living creature deserves a life of pain and suffering, regardless of what their "service" will reveal to those inflicting the pain. Many companies have already stopped testing on animals and I think it is reprehensible to continue the practice.