I do not agree with this bill for many reasons but the most obvious reason is the fact that the State already struggles to regulate and train existing licensed trades.

The mechanical trades mentioned in this bill already needs to adhere to guidelines and standards in place by the ASME ( American Society of Mechanical Engineers), ASHREA ( American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers) standards, NFPA ( National Fire Protection Association), MUBEC (Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code).

Another layer of regulation will only cause more confusion, cost and reasons for young entrepreneurs not to enter the trades and start a small business which is the backbone of business here in Maine.

Thank you for your time,
