

Ethan Alcorn
Saco

Hi, I live on the river and the noise from the airboats is horrendous. There is also a safety issue as they go so fast. I am concerned that there will soon be a horrible accident, from a tubing party or a kayaker. "Tubers" are like sitting ducks when an airboat comes ROARING up the river. The noise is so loud and out of place it is difficult to describe. It's perhaps the most offensive and egregious example of invasion of privacy, peace, quiet, nature, wilderness, and rights to all the above, that I can think of. I pay higher taxes to live here and follow the Corridor Commission, boating, etc. rules, and make no mistake, the airboats are the biggest invasive species threat to the way of life we currently have on the river, in the form of noise, safety, and wildlife endangerment. It will be a sad day when the bald eagle leaves it's nest and let's the chicks die due to a persistent threat of noise; a threat that is able to be stopped.

Thank you.