

Richard Merrick
S Freeport

Thank you for your time and effort addressing this issue.
When my wife and I lived aboard a sailboat, we had to measure noise levels from our engine. Seventy -five decibels proved to be too high and damaged my wife's hearing. We could not carry on a conversation at that level.
We hear the airboats where we live. The sounds wake us up they are so loud. Please consider LD 89 instead of LD 114.
Thank you
Richard Merrick