

Ela Bosco
South Portland
LD 439

During hunting season, Sundays are the one day families with kids and dogs can go hiking, into nature and wild places and not worry about the presence of hunters. Maine's peace and beautiful natural places should be accessible to all. And on Sundays during hunting season, it is still peaceful without the sound of guns, for the most part. Seems more people, especially young people, benefit from hunting not be permitted on Sundays.

Ela Bosco