

Kimberley Soucy
Lincoln
LD 233

“Most people are guilty of the evil of inaction because your mom says mind your own business. You have to say humanity is my business.” Philip Zimbardo

<https://youtu.be/OsFEV35tWsg>

The psychology of evil.

Mindlessly taking the first small step (it's only girl's bathrooms, don't be a bigot)
Dehumanizing others (men in dresses with phalluses, dehumanizing while displaying a self loathing)

De-individualization of self (you've put on a mask, you belong to a mob mentality T's)

Diffusion of personal responsibility (it's not your fault I don't want you in the bathroom with my daughter, somehow I'm hateful and deserve to be demoralized and devalued. Shamed into silence and acceptance.)

Blind obedience to authority (the doctors and institutions telling you this is valid behavior)

Look for a bigger motive

Our sons and daughters need protection from the psychology of evil. It's not new.