I am a US citizen, born in Maine. I am also frequently a patient in the Maine Health system. I can tell you that medical situations are difficult enough without having to worry if armed officers are going to be invading the spaces where patients are having procedures, chemotherapy, or so many other types of medical intervention. I have delayed care because I am worried about having to deal with these lawless, untrained "officers" in the hospitals. Hospitals, schools, churches and many other places should be off limits.
