If policies cause even one child to feel unsafe, withdraw, or silence themselves, then it is our responsibility to correct course.

We hear the concern of making transgender individuals feel comfortable where they use the bathroom or other private spaces, but then in the same breath, that is causing biologically born girls/boys to feel uncomfortable, withdraw, and silence themselves. This is detrimental to many children. Why is that being overlooked, setting the stage of lack of protection for these biologically born girls and boys is not a beneficial baseline for now or their future.
