

Sara Dostie
Winthrop

This seems like a blanket expectation that may prove redundant and time consuming if an individual has had great first hand apprenticeship with a skilled contractor. I've studied and instructed on many levels across many professions. I think some individuals can benefit from this expectation but it shouldn't be a requirement.