Hi:

We are Maine farmers in the Bangor area, traditional ones who have been farming here for two hundred years.

Who is this Harnett guy? His bill isn't helping us and I doubt he's a farmer. We want all employees treated well, clearly, but, from what I am understanding, his bill will greatly damage our ability to operate. Most of us longstanding family farms are barely operating as is.

What we need is LESS regulation and MORE compensation for raising our food, but, in a way that is balanced and allows the citizens to afford food, the latter of which is becoming more difficult each day.

Relying on other nations to feed us is a death wish. Keep us in business.

Thanks, Brian Call and wife, Joan Gibson, Levant, Maine
