

Katharine G. Martin-Savage
Wiscasset
LD 2003

Zoning ordinances are developed by individual towns, and I firmly believe a State law is denying the residents of Maine the right to determine what is best for their individual cities or towns.

Local governing authorities and planning boards are more than capable of determining the need for affordable housing and how to develop and implement the necessary ordinances.

Thank you for your time and consideration.