

Jeff Senders, PhD, PE
Camden
LD 2003

As a Civil & Environmental Engineer and Owner of Once A Tree in Camden, I am strongly in opposition of LD 2003. Specifically with respect to forcing all residential zones to allow 4 unit apartment buildings to go up all 'willy nilly' throughout every village with no additional setback, screening, or stormwater management requirements as that of single family houses. If this passes, Maine towns will look just like most every town in Mass in no time. And let's be honest, nobody really wants to travel to Haverhill Mass. Camden, Maine has implemented a number of successful affordable housing projects throughout our town and we were just awarded one of the most beautiful towns in the nation, once again. We can build smart, sustainable affordable housing that does not compromise our neighborhoods and tourism economy.