LD 2003

By passing LD2003, sub-section 5 and 8:

- 1) You are increasing the cost of living (additional school and municipals costs) in our communities by making people that live in those communities pay the burden of possible increased population.
- 2) The State of Maine is behaving like the National government, making laws that benefit people that own property, out of state construction companies or out of state developers, who does the Legislature represent???
- 3) Maine's history has a strong background of local control, over riding local zoning is a step too far. I can make a lot of logical arguments against passing LD2003, but this is an emotional issue, and it's a red line for Maine residents.
