I am organic farmer and wild harvester in Washington County.
I raise seaweed and oysters on 2 LPAs in Cobscook Bay.

I am GRATEFUL and pleased to support LIMITS in scale of aquaculture operations.
As a young person getting into this sector I am stepping into a legacy of under-regulation. Our ocean has suffered from our lack of restraint. If we want a future, let's protect it.

Farmed salmon do not solve the problem of killing the ocean, they exacerbate it. Sick fish, wild fish meal, additives, chemical de-licensing agents, corporate behemoths, shit jobs.

Venture capital, private equity and carbon credit speculators should not shape the economy of our precious coastline.

Conservation minded, locally owned, suitably scaled!

That's the fishery I want to be a part of, welcoming back the herring, the alewives and the whales. Restoring our wild fisheries for sustained abundance for the future!
