

Gary Torosian
York

For many property owners in the State of Maine, short-term rentals are relied upon to stay financially afloat. My wife and I would not be able to afford a home in Maine without utilizing some short-term rentals. We don't feel it is within a town's right to mandate we cannot rent our home (if we are willing) to someone - assuming no laws are being broken. I strongly urge passage of this legislation which does not seem legal.