

Jeff Raymond
Casco
LD 404

As shared access on our public roads has become more dangerous to the safety of pedestrians having designated trails on retired railroads and other open spaces is an intangible asset to our communities. Promoting access to these healthy activities leads to a thriving population and economy and is something we need to continue supporting at all levels of our local communities and state organizations.