Hello, as a resident of Standish in rural Maine and a parent, I believe access and maintenance of natural spaces is critical to community health. Allowing for citizens to be present in the outdoors and experience the wonders Maine nature can provide is a critical component of this state's native value.

I believe the provision of this trail system will only have a beneficial impact on the state and the communities it transects and while transportation and rail systems have their own critical value, there is no obvious or immediate need for such a system currently.

I am in favor of the implementation of this rail system's use as a trail.
