I live in Yarmouth and I strongly support the interim use of the Berlin Subdivision corridor as a bike and pedestrian trail, as recommended by the Rail Use Advisory Council.

Maine has, and hopefully always will be, a "green" state where we value outdoor living. To have a trail that connects Portland to Lewiston and Brunswick would be an excellent way to promote an outdoor lifestyle. I would love to be able to ride my bike with my kids on a dedicated trail all the way into Portland in one direction, or Lewiston in the other. The rail road beds aren't doing anyone any good just sitting there, put the trails to use and let pedestrians enjoy them.
