

Zach Dolgos
Gorhan

Doubling the plant count will help growers and I to help meet our patients demands. Additionally, it would allow us to grow younger, healthier plants as we move towards growing in beds. Doubling the plant count also allows us to compete with larger corporate businesses while making the state more money.