

Joshua Drew
Biddeford

Folks that have been growing using square foot have been running into issues with being allowed to grow as many flowering plants as they paid for under their 500sqft cap but only being allowed 60 vegetative plants. This makes absolutely no sense.

This is the first step in leveling the playing field in a program that lobbyists for large cannabis companies have been trying to overhaul for years. I hope the correct decision is made and this bill is passed.