

Eileen Fanjoy
Turner
LD 104

My name is Eileen Fanjoy, a lifelong resident of the state of Maine. I am a cannabis patient and also cofounder of Vacationland Cannabis Co. in Turner. I am writing to you to express that I am not in favor of LD 104 as currently written. I am not fully opposed to testing although I believe there are too many flaws in the system. It should be randomized and done by the Department of agriculture. A cultivator should not be able to submit their own plant matter to be tested. Representative Boyer stated while introducing a bill today 5/8/25, that the adult use market is failing. Without fixing the current adult use market it would be detrimental to the medical market to align the program with adult use. That would promote two failing markets. This industry was founded by the medical caregivers here in Maine who know the patient, care for the patient and have dedicated their lives to knowing what is best. Honest hard working people who deserve to continue as small craft cannabis caregivers.
