Good morning, and thank you for the opportunity to speak.

I'm here today in support of the bill that promotes a fair market for sungrown cannabis. Sungrown cultivators produce high-quality, sustainable cannabis, and they should have equal access to the market, just like indoor operators.

This bill takes a vital step toward leveling the playing field while encouraging environmentally responsible practices in the industry. It's a smart, forward-looking move that supports both small farmers and our climate goals.

I respectfully urge you to support this legislation. Thank you.
